Mr. Garfield was not placed at the head of the Interior Department merely to sign his name to formal papers prepared in routine by the eighteen dollars clerks, and Mr. Garfield did not select as the head of the Land Offie his classmates, Mr. Ballinger, to continue the regime of grafting and crookedness that has made that Bureau a by-word and a hissing for the last thirty years. It will be remembered that Mr. Ballinger left a law office in the West where his income was four times greater than his salary in the Land Office. One of the first things he did after he was appointed Commissioner was to dis charge seventeen superannuated clerks who wrote slowly and lab oriously with pen. Up to that time the highest record in preparing land patents for issue was forty day, the average was perhaps not more than twelve or fifteen The first young man appointed under the civil service rules made record of two hundred and fifty a lay on the typewriter with dupliate carbon sheets. THE SECRET OUT.

A Wide Open Statement.

As an example of the good results thus obtained, note the following letter:

"In the year 1899, I had an attack of indigestion and got so bad that my home doctor said he could not do me any good," writes Mr. G. Trent, of fordonville, Trans. "I wrote to you and you advised me to use bought six bottles, and when I commenced using it I was so weak I could hardly walk about the house. By the time I had used one bottle my stomach and bowels com-

Why He Sought the Mourners' Bench.
"Once we had a revival, and I attended it with my girl. She got quite happenin' she started for the mourn-ers' bench. She didn't ask me if I'd go. She just got up and went all by herself. Well, she kneeled down there, herself. Well, she kneeled down there, and I see that right next to her was kneelin' a feller she'd been goin' with some and who was a rival o' mine. I said: 'By gosh, I can't stand that! Maybe he'll be ketchin' her.' There was just a little room between her and him, and I stepped up and kneeled so as to separate 'em. I cut him out that time, and he didn't marry that girl. As time, and he didn't marry that girl. As far as that goes, neither did I. Oh, well, you can't be young but once!"— Clifton Johnson in Outing Magazine.
